To whom it may concern:

People do business with people they trust...David is trustworthy, loyal, dedicated, and uncompromisingly focused on doing what is right for the community. He works well within the many layers of the organization to implement change that drives economic health and vitality in the community. He is skilled in translating complex ideas into clear, high impact communications, while providing outstanding follow through. David is a strong leader, mentor, and talented at bringing out the best in people around him.

David is highly respected internally and externally, which allows him to leverage his many talents to the overall success of the entire region. He is a top tier City Manager with an impressive track record of accomplishments in Oregon City. I trust and recommend David without reservation.
